AMUNDSEN PARTY FLIES BACK TO SAFETY

London, June 19.—Raold Amundsen has once more come safely out of the merciless Arctic.

An abandoned seaplane frozen in the ice some 150 miles from the North Pole remains as his "farthest north marker," but the great Norwegian explorer and his five intrepid companions are enjoying the comfort of bunks and warm meals after 28 days of untold hardship, during which they tried the other good machine out of the ice and flew it back to Spitzbergen.

Amundsen failed to realize his dream of reaching the pole by air, but failure is almost entirely lost sight of here in the great popular wave of relief at the news of his return and admiration at his heroic accomplishment.

Party Hopped off May 21

Amundsen's two planes, one commanded by himself and the other by his fellow-adventurer and financial backer, Lincoln Ellsworth, disappeared over the northern horizon from King's Bay, Spitzbergen on May 21. The other members of the party were Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen, Norwegian, and Leif Dietrichsen, Norwegian, the pilots; Oskar Omdahl, Norwegian and Karl Feucht German, the mechanics. The planes carried no wireless and as the days passed without the fliers' return, hopes began to fade that even Amundsen, with all his Arctic knowledge, could survive in the event of an accident to the machines. As the hopes faded preparations were made for relief expeditions, although it was realized that looking for a small party of men in the great northern wastes of ice and water was an almost hopeless task.

It lay with the men themselves either to fly back or trek by foot and folding boat, on the slenderest emergency rations, to the nearest depot of supplies and there await rescue.

Yesterday with the Arctic expedition under Donald MacMillan already on its way north, planning to look for Amundsen around Cape Columbia, Greenland, word was flashed from Spitzbergen that the explorers had returned.

All Are Safe

The details since received here have been meagre, but dispatches from Oslo, the Norwegian capital, say all six men are safe. They arrived at Spitzbergen in their remaining plane and were conveyed by a fishing boat to King's Bay, where they undoubtedly received a hearty welcome.

CHINESE KILL SEVERAL FOREIGNERS; OUTBREAKS INCREASE IN INTENSITY

Canton, June 24.—Several Europeans were killed and many others wounded today when fighting broke out between Chinese agitators and residents of Shamen, the foreign concession here. Women and children are fleeing on the United States ship Saville, preparing to leave for Hongkong tonight. The situation is extremely serious.

Five hundred British and other foreign women and children left Shamen at 6:00 o'clock this morning aboard the British steamer Honan for Hongkong. A British infantry regiment was ordered to stand by in case of need. The break today came after demonstrators fired in the direction of Shamen yesterday, killing E. Fasquier, a Frenchman, and injuring Commissioner of Customs Edwards and V. G. Murrell, a chemist. The latter was shot in the arm.

Troops Leave for Shamen

Hongkong, June 24.—A detachment of British Indian troops left for Shamen, the foreign section of Canton, as a precautionary measure following the outbreak there.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED IN SHANGHAI SUBURBS

London, June 23.—Official advice received here from Pekin says: "The diplomatic corps decided unanimously to open negotiations with the Chinese government in an effort to fix responsibility for the Shanghai troubles and adjust the situation."

Shanghai, June 23.—Martial law has been proclaimed in the suburbs of Shanghai by General Chang Hsueh Liang, son of General Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian war lord. Before proclaiming martial law, General Chang is said to have left Shanghai "rapidly and secretly." No explanation of his reported departure has been made.

General Chang's proclamation forbids public meetings, the issuance of propaganda pamphlets and the carrying of arms. It also provides for the confiscation of unauthorized arms and ammunition, the censoring of letters and telegrams and the inspection of incoming and outgoing vessels.

Diplomatic Corps Protest

Pekin, June 23.—The foreign diplomatic corps today sent a note to the Chinese government declining to accept responsibility for delay in settlement of the Shanghai strike troubles and charging the Chinese government with having an incorrect version of the recent series of incidents at Shanghai.

The note was handed to the Chinese foreign office by Signor Corradi of Italy, the dean of the foreign ministers. It was a reply to the last note from the foreign office which attributed most of the recent Chinese disturbances to delays in adjustment of the strikes in Shanghai, and which presented an account of the disturbances differing radically in detail from the account insisted upon by the foreign diplomatic corps.

Encountered Fog

Published non-copyright accounts of the flight say the fliers encountered a fog soon after starting from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, on May 21. Rising above the mist, they held their course for some hours until compelled to alight because half their gasoline was exhausted.

Then, when it seemed they had found safety in a piece of open water where the seaplanes alighted, they were suddenly confronted with catastrophe. The ice closed in, immovably jamming both machines. Without immediate means of transportation, stranded amidst a limitless waste of water and ice, with the greatest exertion they succeeded in dislodging one of the planes, although the effort cost 24 days of exhausting work, during which their rations were rapidly disappearing and the prospects of a safe return seemed dwindling.

A narrow Margin

Courage and perseverance won through and at length discarding all the equipment they could spare and with only enough gasoline and food to make their way, but without a further trouble—they entrusted themselves again in the air heading for Spitzbergen.

Fortune Favors Brave

Once more the saying that fortune favors the brave, received justification. Over the miles of dreary ice fields, without a trace of land the plane flew southward, sometimes encountering the dreaded fog, but always able to land safely on the shores of Norway. The last part of the Spitzbergen archipelago.

Searched the Machine

Almost as if by arrangement the Norwegian sealing boat Sjoelvig have into sight. The captain and crew of nine of the little 12-ton cutter had heard the droning of the seaplane's engine and was way, but they belonged to the patrol expedition out to scan the wild coast for the missing explorers.

The Rescue

The surprise and gratification of the hardy seamen when they discovered their mistake must have equalled that of the castaways, who thus saw salvation at hand. Captain Wollan speedily recognized Amundsen, notwithstanding the month's growth of hair covering his usually clean shaven face, and they exchanged cordial greetings.

The explorers were soon aboard and welcomed with the utmost hospitality, although the sudden situation of six hungry men made big demands on the ship's small larder and there was not much to eat and drink but seal beef, eggs and cider.

A Hawser Was Passed

The voyage to King's Bay was begun as speedily as possible, Amundsen being anxious to get there in time to forestall departure of the patrol expedition, which, he was told, was about to start out to seek him. There was a small mishap, the hawser broke. This repaired the voyage began again, but it was not destined that the seaplane which had carried the members of the expedition through so much danger should accompany them to their destination.

THE EMPRESS THEATRE -- CURRENT ATTRACTIONS

"THE THUNDERING HERD" BIG PARAMOUNT SPECIAL AT THE EMPRESS THEATRE. NEXT WEDNESDAY FILMED UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Paramount Director Relates Inside Story of the Picturization of Zane Grey's Historical Novel

By William K. Howard

In the twenty-two years motion pictures have been in existence, every phase of western life and western history has been photographed and the difficulty of obtaining the animals and handling them. In 1870, approximately eight million buffalo roamed the Great Plains west of the Mississippi River. Today, there are scarcely four thousand in the entire United States.

When Paramount undertook to produce Zane Grey's "The Thundering Herd," one of the first problems confronted was securing a sufficient number of animals to put over the tremendously big scenes effectively.

Men from the studio location department scoured the country in search of a large herd. After many weeks they returned with the report that in Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming, there were several big herds scattered over the reservation.

Permission was then obtained to band these herds into one great body. This in itself was a prodigious task and took several weeks.

Once the animals were herded, a big company from the Paramount studio, including Jack Holt, Lois Wilson, Noah Beery and Raymond Hatton departed for Yellowstone Park to start production on the picture.

In one part of "The Thundering Herd," the script calls for a spectacular stampede of the buffalo down a narrow valley. In filming this scene, the players and staff members risked their lives. The cameras were erected behind huge embankments of rocks and trees directly in the path of the herd. When the buffalo came to the obstruction the front line of animals was unable to veer aside and was driven into the embankment by those pressing behind.

In addition to the picturing of the stampede, the cameras who arrived here broke twelve years ago spent some $80,000 in cash during his operations in Pendleton. In his cast were Josie Sedgwick, noted leading lady, Marian Nixon, famous screen beauty, Charles K. French, G. Raymond Nye and other famous players.

Hoot Remembers Pendleton

"Pendleton treated me right when I was flat," says Gibson. "It never forgets the cowboys put the Round-Up over when it was young and I just wanted to show that the boys never forget Pendleton, either."

Gibson's Round-Up picture, "Let Er Buck," was "shot" under different conditions than any movie story ever filmed. The rules of the classic are inflexible. Nothing, under any circumstances must be allowed to interfere to slow up the fast competition in the cowboy championships.

Nothing but the actual competitions can ever hold a moment's time in the Pendleton arena, and that arena is kept clear of everything but the competitors.

Gibson and his company in order to film the action of the story had to take it in the action of the Round-Up as it really happened. There was no time for any specially arranged stunts in the hectic program of the three days. Where his story called for participation of Hoot or any of his company in the Round-Up events, they had to really be in them as bona fide contenders, and

The sale for reserved seats in the grandstand for July 1st are rapidly being taken up, and anyone desiring one or more of these should secure them as soon as possible from the Secretary's Office on 2nd Avenue immediately south of the Great West Saddlery.

Next week the town of Macleod will witness the largest gathering of Indians who have ever been seen on the continent. Indians from practically every reservation in West, both in Canada and the States.

The big Indian village, where hundreds of Indians will take up their residence as in days of old, when houses were an unknown quantity, in big, gradually painted tepees in the square.

Every evening the big genuine Indian jazz orchestra will be on deck at the Silver Grill Hall, where lovers of dancing can step the light fantastic to Indian music. This orchestra has made quite a big name for itself in America. At the Hudson's Bay Hall, which has been undergoing renovations to the floor, the renowned Imperial Jazz orchestra will

TRACK EVENTS THROWN OPEN

With the exception of two or three events each day the races at the Indian Celebration will be thrown open for whites and Indians. On the first day half mile democrat races have been made open, on the second day the tepee race has been altered to 5 furlongs dash open, and the third day there will be a half-mile open race in place of tepee race. This gives a splendid program of races with big purses for everyone. The races will be run under western Canada Racing Rules, running weight for age.

his cameramen had to grab the results as they actually work out, and which has its first showing at the Empress Theatre, next Monday.

Gibson Troupe Allowed In. Probably no one but Hoot and his gang could have gotten away with it, agree both the technical staff of the Universal Company and the Round-Up experts. But the "gang" was an unusual one in itself, and eminently qualified to defend the honor of Hollywood as a cowboy town. For in the company in addition to Gibson himself were such Round-Up stars as Tommy Grimes, three times winner of the steer roping championship, Benie Corbett, celebrated as a rider and bulldozer, and others, while not in the championship class of Gibson or Grimes, are all "top hands" who can give a stiff contest for first place in any event they are put into.

And while Gibson may be a movie star in Universal City he is still just one of Pendleton's own boys up there. Out in the Round-Up arena it was "Lo, Hooter," and "Hi, Dutch," or Slim or Scout, as the case might have been.

"Hi, Red!" yelled "Hooter" across a corral, "Remember when we split the steer ridin' money?"

"Oh, boy!" returned Red. "Wasn't them the days?"

Hoot fervently agreed that after all, "them was the days," when a cowboy was only a cowboy sittin' on the arena fence, wondering where the Heck breakfast money and entrance fees were coming from.

And Charles Wellington Furlong's own novel, "Let Er Buck," actually written around the Pendleton classic, supplied the story which was adapted for the screen by director Ed Sedgwick and Raymond L. Schrock.

GIBSON'S LATEST FIRST RATE FILM

Good Story Woven About the Great Pendleton Round-Up

Cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, old-time drivers of horse pulled stages and others possessing vital knowledge of Western habits, customs and sports, to a total number of close to 1,000, say nothing of outlaw horses. Then there are big barnsteers and such that had a part in the making of Charles Wellington Furlong's novel, "Let Er Buck." Universal-Gibson special, which opens Monday in the Empress theatre. One of the most thrilling colorful pictures of Western life ever shown on the screen.

Hoot Gibson, the star long ago Hoot convinced motion picture patrons that he is the real stuff as a cowboy. He has shown time and again that he can ride 'em straight up as well as give a pleasing character portrayal. But in this case Hoot apparently cast discretion aside and rode right into the center of a carnival of the most desperate, hazardous, thrilling sports ever held—nothing less than the biggest Round-Up where the best cowboys in all the land were competing for honors.

Hoot established a precedent for motion picture actors which he previously established back in 1912 in the same arena. When that original three-day program had been completed, he rode out again with the honor of all around champion as his reward. Hoot Gibson was a top hand long before he thought of motion picture cameras.

"Let Er Buck," was filmed at Pendleton, Oregon last year while that city's famous Annual Round-Up was in progress. The story of the picture was adapted from Charles Wellington Furlong's novel. The story hinges on certain of the programmed events. Having such a colorful atmosphere, Edward Sedgwick, the director, took every advantage of the unusual occasion and the result is that the picture really furnishes two fine entertainments in one. There is the story which is good, and is players, and there is the atmosphere told by a cast of sterling screen players by the real thing in Western atmosphere at its most exciting period, thanks to director Ed Sedgwick.

Marian Nixon has the part of the daughter of the Texas cattleman for whom Hoot worked. She is the cause of his romantic troubles. Josie Sedgwick plays the part of the woman ranch owner.

CALGARY'S JUBILEE CELEBRATION

Calgary's mammoth Jubilee celebration held in conjunction with the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede July 6th to 11th will no doubt bring together the largest number of people ever at one place in Alberta. The Calgary Exhibition and Stampede held the past two years were very marked successes but anyone familiar with the preparations already made for this year's combined event is convinced that it will be even a greater success. From the great Historical Pageant and Stampede Parade which will take place at ten o'clock the morning of July 6th to the Grand Barbecue on Saturday night, the week will be full of thrills, and will tell the story of fifty years of development.

The Exhibition will be the occasion for the gathering together of the best live stock not only of Alberta but of the adjoining provinces and states. Alberta is noted for the production of the highest quality live stock, and as the live stock industry is the foundation stone of Alberta prosperity, the Exhibition directors are giving all possible encouragement to it. The Great Historical Pageant will in itself be a wonderful demonstration of the quality of Alberta horses, as most of the floats in the parade (which will be five miles long) are to be drawn by four and six horse teams, and the farmers of the Gleichen district, in preparing the thirty six horse team hauling ten wagon loads of wheat, will demonstrate in a manner which all Alberta residents will find encouraging to it. Never in the history of the Calgary Exhibition has such a large number of special features been arranged for, in fact, it is almost an impossible task to get time for them all in one week. Some conception of how much larger all the events will be this year than last year can be gathered from the fact that last year there were ten chuckwagon outfits competed and this year there will be at least eighteen or twenty. Following are a few of the special features for the 13 months to the year—each of 28 days—New Year's day being termed "New Year," without a week day name and the extra day in Leap Year being called "Leap Day" and allotted between June and the New month "Sol." Also detailed story of the Reformed Calendar will appear in the Times at an early date.

NOTABLE VISITOR AT MACLEOD

M. B. Cotsworth, F.G.S., C.A., of Vancouver, was a visitor in Macleod this week, the guest of his brother-in-law R. J. Gardiner. Mr. Cotsworth is by way of being a notable of world-wide travel in connection with the exploitation of the Reformed Calendar, the advantages of which he has brought to the attention of the governments of Great Britain, the continental monarchies, and the United States and Canada, and toward the adoption of which the League of Nations is lending its support. Mr. Cotsworth is official representative of the League in this connection and states that the adoption of the Reformed Calendar is imminent. The Reformed Calendar provides for the 13 months to the year—each of 28 days—New Year's day being termed "New Year," without a week day name and the extra day in Leap Year being called "Leap Day" and allotted between June and the New month "Sol." Also detailed story of the Reformed Calendar will appear in the Times at an early date.

KNOCKING WESTERN GRAIN ROUTE

On May 4, Canadian National Car No. 82664, containing wheat, arrived in Vancouver from Lethbridge, Alberta, and was sold by a local grain company for export. After being put through the elevator it was found that the car contained 1259 bushels of No. 4 wheat and 308 bushels of No. 2 feed oats. The wheat was exported on the S.S. "Mobile City," May 8. The oats are now at the elevator.

To get possession of these oats, the railway company demands that the owner pay the "domestic" freight rate of 42 cents per hundred, not only on the 308 bushels of oats, but also pay "domestic" rates on the wheat which was in the car. The "export" rate is only 22 cents; the difference between "export" and "domestic" grain rates in this particular car amounts to $179.18.

If the railway companies are justified in their ruling on this case, they would be justified in charging "domestic" grain rates on every car of grain shipped into Vancouver, because out of each car there must come a certain amount of screenings, and those screenings are sold locally.

Why should there exist such a thing as "domestic" grain rates to Vancouver? If that car of grain had been consigned to Fort William or to Toronto, there would be no question about "domestic" or "export" rates; there is just one rate eastward. But because it was the design of the railways, and seems to be their present intention, to allow as little grain as possible to move westward, every conceivable obstruction is being put on the Western Route.

It is perfectly just that there should be "domestic" or high rates where there is no general movement of freight, because it is the volume of freight moved that measures the reasonableness of a rate. But with a large grain movement westward now established, surely there is no more justification for applying "domestic" or high grain and feed rates to Vancouver, than there is for applying them to Fort William or to Toronto.

If the railways are not now prepared to recognize the Western Grain Route, they should come out into the open and say so.

ALL ROADS TO GOD

With the exception of a few thousand who did not care to break the ties that bound them to the old churches, the Presbyterians, Congregationalists and Methodists of Canada are now united into one church. All roads that lead to God are good. And, perhaps, to transform three of these roads into one broader and finer avenue to salvation will remove some perplexity and some confusion from the way.

But the chief significance of church union is that it marks a new tendency to subordinate dogma to the more universal phases of Christianity. The words of Jesus presented no dogmatic difficulties to the Christians of early days. They were plain words then, simple and direct. But, for two thousand years, man has philosophized about Christianity until he has confused it. He has divided the way of the cross into a thousand little paths that differ from each other only in the disputatious mind of man himself.

Mankind has tried to ride to Heaven on the backs of a million theological hobby-horses.

And, somehow or other, these hobby-horses have become mixed up in our minds with God Himself. To worship dogma or creed is just as idolatrous as to set up images to Baal.

Church union represents the conviction of hundreds of thousands of Canadians that there is something deeper in religion than creed something more fundamental than difference in theological opinion. It represents the growing tendency to discover that theological hobby-horses do not satisfy the universal craving for moral progress.

FIFTH CROP REPORT

Rains which have been general throughout the entire province during the past two or three weeks have produced crop conditions more favorable than the province has seen for ten years. At the present time, with the exception of districts where cutworms have been active, the condition of the growing crop may be said to be very satisfactory, and indicative of a heavy yield.

Since last report rains have visited almost every district in the province in varying amounts. In some districts the precipitation has been so heavy as to render the highways almost impassable. In practically all districts a vigorous crop growth is being witnessed, and in fact all plant growth is greater than has been seen for a number of years. The prospects may be said to be much better than at this time in 1923, because the satisfactory conditions are more general.

The following reports of rain have been received, and these may be taken as fairly indicative of the precipitation throughout the province. The reports cover for the most part the first two weeks of June. Raymond, 2.50 inches; Peace River good rains; Lacombe 3 inches since May 27; Olds 1.79 inches in June to date; Youngstown 1.07 inches in June; Vermilion 1.75 inches; Medicine Hat one to two inches within ten days; Vegreville 1.75 inches in June; Sedgewick 2 inches since last report; Lethbridge heavy rains in whole district.

Further reports on acreage indicate that the general increase in wheat will be from 5 to 10 per cent, while the coarser grains will also show a slight increase. The hay crop will be heavy, and there is a big increase in corn and other fodder crops in the south. The new sugar beet crop in the Lethbridge territory is doing well.

Several hail storms have occurred during the past week, but the damage in small things. Cutworms have done considerable damage in the east central district and will be responsible for a smaller yield than otherwise would have been obtained. Grasshoppers have been active in the Peace River and Grande Prairie districts but are under control.

HALF BILLION WHEAT CROP MAYBE—STEWART

Toronto, June 17.—"If the present unprecedented prospects continue unchanged and are permitted to materialize into an actual harvest, it will be the greatest the country has ever known, possibly exceeding 500,000,000 bushels," James Stewart, president of the Maple Leaf Milling Company, said on his arrival in Toronto today from Western Canada, speaking on the wheat prospects.

"While the western crop has many possible vicissitudes to face before harvest, conditions at this time of the year have never been more favorable in any previous year," Mr. Stewart remarked. "June is the critical month, and this year the first half of June has given us ideal weather, with copious rains and cool temperatures.

"Strong, healthy plant has already been developed over the entire prairie country and there are about 22,000,000 acres sown to wheat this year. If the crop is up to average, judged by yields of previous year, the country would have a crop of at least 400,000,000 bushels."

LETHBRIDGE EXHIBITION BUILDING BURNED

Lethbridge, June 20.—Fire of uncertain origin completely wiped out the beautiful main exhibition building at the Lethbridge Fair Grounds Friday evening early.

BUY AT HOME SPEND YOUR MONEY IN MACLEOD

Purchases representing thousands of dollars are lost to us, to our trade, to our clerks and employees, to our laborers and artisans, to all the people of Macleod who exist on the products of their work. This money, if spent at home, would help to recreate Macleod financially, give a wider field of activities in business, would be helpful to every resident of this town.

If we purchased regularly from local merchants, this money would circulate in Macleod in a welcome manner. Our merchants merit our patronage; it is to our interest, and the duty of all of us to encourage the local merchant. He is one of us, he lives among us, he has the right to be encouraged by us, he is anxious to have our custom, and to give us satisfaction. We should under all circumstances give him preference, price for price, quality for quality. And nearly always the price that our local merchant asks is, if we compare the quality, just as cheap as that of the outside merchant.

Never purchase merchandise by catalogues from foreign houses before assuring yourself that you cannot procure the same articles, of the same quality (and frequently of better quality) at the same price from your local merchant.

DAMAGE DONE BY HAIL STORM IN CALGARY

Calgary, June 19.—According to a statement issued by the Provincial Hail Board on Friday, the damage caused by the hail storm which struck Calgary city and a strip of country six miles wide for twenty-five miles east of the city Wednesday afternoon is not so severe as first reported. The board states that the hail crops will come back before the end of the season.
The greatest damage was to greenhouses in Calgary in which thousands of panes of glass were smashed by hail stones, some of which were an inch diameter. The hail lasted ten minutes over the territory where the storm centered.

It isn't intelligent to be ahead of your times. You can't make a peach sprout by howling for peaches.

AND PROV. NEWS

Big Party of Editors Coming Word has been received that the American Agricultural Editors Association, including representatives of 100 of the largest farm journals in the United States, will visit Alberta in September, and will spend a day at Edmonton, and also visit other points in the province. This party represents journals with a combined circulation of more than eight million copies.

Death of Alberta Labor Member
The death of W. G. Johnston, labor member for Medicine Hat in the Alberta Legislature, occurred last week. Mr. Johnston was one of the most popular members of the house. A bye-election to fill the vacancy caused by his death will be held within the time specified by the new election act.

Earl Haig to Visit Alberta
Word has been received that Field Marshal Earl Haig will visit Alberta during his tour of Canada in July. It is also expected that Ramsey McDonald and Hon. Arthur Henderson, prominent British labor leaders, may visit the province this year.

Co-operative Pool Drive
The drive for memberships for the dairy, livestock and poultry pools in the province is now under way.
In this connection three co-operative marketing experts visited the province the past week in the persons of Walton Petet, general secretary of the national council of co-operatives of the United States; W. J. Park, and Mr. Mercer, general manager and secretary respectively of the Fraser Valley co-operative milk producers association. These men addressed meetings at various points in the province. The drive for memberships in the three pools is making good progress.

File on Many Homesteads
Up to date in June a total of 62 homesteads have been filed on at the dominion land office at Edmonton, by new settlers.

Meeting of Mayors Thirty mayors of western Canada will gather with government officials in Edmonton shortly to discuss the western trade route.

Good Calf Club
A total of 36 calves have been entered in the Lethbridge calf club for the competition at the forthcoming Lethbridge Exhibition, the club being under the direction of M.
L. Frong, district agriculturist. The competition will be keen.

Coal Shipments Off Confirmation has been received by the Alberta Government of the dispatch from Ottawa published on Thursday to the effect that the Canadian National Railway has seen fit, in view of the pending freight rates investigation, to withdraw its arrangement for the trial shipment of 25,000 tons of Alberta coal to the Ontario market. The confirmation was received in a telegram from Premier Haultboyne to acting Premier Haultboyne. Mr.
Haultboyne has asked Mr. Greenfield to send forward the details of Sir Henry Thornton's letter to the Premier setting forth the reason for the action of his company.

Naturally the announcement was received with surprise and regret by the Alberta Government officials, since it practically sets at naught the three years of effort the government has put forth to bring this trial shipment about. Keen regret was expressed by government men members, not only on account of the cancellation of business which would have given work to the idle coal mines in certain districts, but also on account of the many people in Ontario who had been interested in the trial shipment, and who were looking forward to receiving the coal.

Members of the government expressed the view that the test shipment should have been permitted to be made, since it would have established the cost of hauling coal under the conditions prescribed and would thus have been of considerable advantage in the investigation into the general freight rate structure. They therefore regret the action of the railway company in cancelling the arrangements.

The members of the government also feel that had there been no delay earlier in the season due to the indiscision of the Ottawa Government as to how the money voted for the trial shipment was to be utilized, the shipment would have been completed some weeks ago, and the test freight rate established, and a question settled one way or another.

NEWS OF THE POOLS

The drive for memberships for the dairy, livestock and poultry pools is now well underway throughout the province. In spite of the fact that heavy rains have made the roads in some districts almost impassable, and have thus interfered with the meetings and canvasses, the drive is making steady progress. The first two weeks have been taken up largely with the holding of meetings at many points and following these active canvassing is being undertaken. Contracts for all pools have begun to arrive at the central offices in Edmonton, considerably augmenting the number of contracts signed up prior to the commencement of the drive.

One of the most active workers in the drive is Mrs. Warr of Waskatenuau who has been touring the St. Paul de Metis line. Mrs. Warr walked into the central offices Friday with some 58 contracts as a result of her series of meetings.
Eighteen of these were for the dairy pool, 21 for livestock, 12 for poultry and 7 for the wheat pool.
This is typical of the success some of the canvassers are having, but Mrs.
Warr's success is particularly notable in that the territory she covered is peopled partly by foreigners, who nevertheless, appeared to be quite ready to join the pools.

The big feature in the pool organization of the past week has been the visit to the province of three noted co-operative marketing experts. Chiefs of these were Walton H. Petet, general secretary of the national council of co-operative marketing associations in the United States. Mr. Petet won instant favor at all of his meetings with the farmers and business men because of the apparent extent of his practical knowledge of all phases of cooperative marketing, and because of the very practical advice he was able to give.

There were also in the province Messrs. Park and Mercer, general manager and secretary, respectively, of the Fraser Valley Co-operative Milk Producers Association.

Mr. Petet held three meetings at Lethbridge, two at Calgary, two at Red Deer, three at Edmonton and two at Camrose, one at Vegreville and one at Lloydminster. These included addresses to the board of trade at Lethbridge and Red Deer and the Rotary Club at Edmonton in which Mr. Petet talked frankly to the business men as to their connection with the movement for cooperative marketing.

Mr. Park appeared with Mr.

Petet at Calgary and Edmonton, and also held meetings at Lacombe, Rimby, Olds, Stettler, Viking, Sedgewick, Wainwright and Ver-million. Mr. Mercer also held meetings at several points. These two men were able to give practical advice particularly on the formation of the dairy pool.

During his visit to the province
Mr. Petet was able to clear away many uncertainties in the minds of some of the people of the province under the conditions prescribed as to the advisability of forming the new pools. He attacked the fallacy that perishable products could not be marketed co-operatively and pointed to the long record of success of dairy and egg marketing in the United States. He praised the organization of the wheat pool, and stated that the three new pools were being organized along the lines of the best experience known throughout the world, and there could be no question of their success if properly managed.

Mr. Petet's addresses were broadcast from Edmonton and Calgary and very full reports of his meetings appeared in the daily press.

During the past week Mr. Park of the Fraser Valley Milk Association, took occasion emphatically to deny certain stories which had been circulated as to the operations of his association. One of the stories was to the effect that the association was bankrupt, and that three of its creameries had been disposed of to the Burns Co. Mr. Park said that these statements were absolutely untrue, that no dealings had been had with water with the Burns Company, and that his association was still solvent. The fact was that the Burns Company was endeavoring to sign up creameries throughout the Okanagan, but Mr. Parks received word from one association there this week that the Burns proposal had been turned down.

An interesting analysis of Alberta eggs in comparison with eggs from China, California, and Washington has been secured by Mrs.
Wyman of the poultry pool. This analysis shows Alberta eggs to be much superior to the others in food value. The edible portion of the Alberta eggs analyzed showed 89.7 per cent. compared with 89.6 of the Washington egg, and 86.5 of the Chinese egg. California, in a previous test, had been shown to be below Alberta in this respect.

are undoubtedly a light crop, but you need not worry about your preserving requirements. We have been promised plenty of berries to supply all our many customers, and the price will be a little under the average market price. The last week in June will be the big preserving week, which is a little earlier than last year.

APRICOTS

We are advised that not more than three cars of apricots will be produced in all of B.C. this season, and Washington isn't much better off. We are forced to look to California for our 'cots this year. The first shipment will arrive about June 25th, and we shall be pleased to book your orders in advance of that date. The price will be around $2.85 per 4-basket crate.

WEDDING BELLS

ROTHNEY—DEMING

The wedding took place in the Union Church, Macleod, on the evening of Wednesday, June 24th, of Flora Elspeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rothney, Macleod, and Dr. Edward Chevalier Deming, of Los Angeles, California. The Rev. Mr. Armstrong officiated; the bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Armstrong. Her dress was of white pussy willow cotton, the veil being caught with pearls and orange blossoms, and the train, lined with shell pink georgette, falling from the shoulder. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Master James St. George, nephew of the bride, made a smart little page. During the signing of the register Mrs. Charles Brewster rendered the solo "O Promise Me." After the ceremony a luncheon was served to about two dozen guests, the table being centred with a large bride's cake. The bride and bridegroom left later in the evening for California, the bride travelling in an ensemble suit, of beige kasha with hat to match. The bride and groom will spend the next two months at Hot Springs, a tourist resort in the Redwood district of California.

HEAP RICH INDIAN.

Indians on the Blood Reserve are breaking considerable new land this season, from 1,500 to 2,000 acres. In most cases excellent work is being done. In fact, most whites could profitably emulate methods used by the Indians, who, under intelligent supervision, are raising good crops.

Certainly no exception can be taken to Indian Agent Faunt's contention that the sooner all the Indians get into the farming game, the better for all concerned.

Tom Three Persons, famous as a rider of the wild and woolly bronc, has proved beyond doubt that he can ride a bucking plow as well as a bucking horse. He is today, perhaps, one of the largest individual farmers on the Reserve, with his 150 acres into crop and about 100 acres of summerfallow.

Joe Bull Shield is a close second, however, if not on a par with Tom. That Joe is trying to make good use of the profits from his 6,300 bushels of wheat, raised last year, is evident. He is building a barn and a good house on his place at farm four.

As he glides by in his Wyllis-Knight sedan, with the engine purring like a cat before an open fire on a winter night, it causes one to reflect upon the advancement made by the Indians in the last quarter of a century.

In the early days of October, 1899, campers at the mouth of Lac's Creek were amused to see a squaw with poles dragging behind her pony, on which poles a large basket was fastened, and in the basket, with other things, was a papoose. As they reached midstream the basket, with its contents, was submerged, the squaw all the time jabbering at the child, telling him, no doubt to hold on, which he did. Upon reaching the bank the mother dismounted, wiped the water from the child's face with her bare hand, wrung water from its scant clothing, remounted and went jogging along, chanting, what seemed to be an Indian lullaby.

There were few wagons among the Indians in those days, and now, well, many a white man views with a certain amount of envy the fine equipage of the Indians.

Modernists are not trying to forsake all of the old things. They use the same old collection plate.
